Dear Ehud,

Please see the below the links to the people we used for the North and South Pole trips.

While the South Pole trip is reasonable in quality of "accommodations", there is only low-end accommodations to the North Pole station (Borneo).

We went to Antarctica in the 3rd week of December and understood that the best time is from the first week in December through the 2nd week in January. The trip, from start to finish, including extra days to account for potential weather delays, is about 9 days.

For the North Pole, we went in the 2nd week of April, buy I'm not sure what the ideal times are.

Let me know if you have any questions, once you have read through the materials.

Shabbat Shalom!
